WHAT'S THE DIFFERENT ABOUT HINOODEYA RAMEN

Most ramen served in the United States is tonkotsu ramen – thin noodles in a very rich pork broth, almost milky with fat. But there are many different types of ramen in Japan. Hinodeya specialized in DASHI RAMEN – thicker noodles with wonderful texture in a dashi-based broth. DASHI is a traditional Japanese stock made from bonito flakes (katsuobushi) and kombu seaweed. It is light and pure, and packed with UMAMI. We add scallops to the broth. WE RESPECT THE KOSHI! Hinodeya Ramen's noodles are thicker, with a wonderful texture – a lively springiness known as koshi. They are a little squiggly, to pick up the delicious oils flavoring the broth.

Enjoy the taste of Japan through our ramen!

Hinodeya seeks to create something new from a family history of over 130 years in Japanese cuisine. In 1886, we founded a new ramen bar north of Tokyo and began serving DASHI-RAMEN, starting a new wave. Now, we are bringing the flavor revolution to SF with our chefs and staff straight from Japan to deliver an authentic dining experience.

We wish to share the passion of our dashi-family with you!
